

Angela Marshall "Author Stone"

www.WomenWhoLeadAnthology.com

Motivational and Literary Messenger and Author
"In Other Words By Stone"

Angela Marshall is an Augusta, Ga., native positive words powerhouse that utilizes her personal life experiences of struggle, strength, and success to captivate audiences and readers abroad. She speaks and writes with positive intent to motivate others. Growing up altruistic with lighter skin in an African American family and environment during the 1970's, afforded her a viewpoint advantage of diversity, different and determination. In March 2016, Stone resigned from her 20-year corporate employment to allow the purpose that has pursued her throughout every level of her life, to be unmasked, unchained and untamed.

Often in her past, she struggled through a lavish but lacking lifestyle with her ex-husband, a former NFL player. That chapter in life would prove pivotal to her "wise words woman" nickname. The transparency in her inspiring, intriguing and inquiring minds want to know autobiography, "Reality to Rags to Riches; The Story and Life of an Ex-NFL Wife" is compelling. Angela is the CEO and a creative writing consultant for In Other Words by Stone, located in Augusta, Ga. She is also a contributing Columnists and Poet for the TimBookTu.com website.

Angela travels globally speaking about the scores that didn't count, converting downs in life to wins and making positive plays every day. Included in her author credentials is her first published book, "Lust, Lessons, Love and Life." She is the mother of 2 children and has 4 grandchildren. Angela also has a host of adopted god-children, extended family, and dedicated friends. She seeks to inspire others through her words, work and wisdom. www.inotherwordsbystone.com

womenwholeadanthology.com