Devay's career and professional life has been a story of "firsts." Devay's "can do" attitude and being apologetically unafraid to zig when everyone else zags, has led to her continuously charting new territory with ease. She did not allow being a teen mom slow her down one bit.

Devay started the first Uber-like service for children (Kids Cab) in Winston-Salem at age 27. She and her business was selected to be featured on the front page of the Business section of the Winston-Salem Journal.

It can be argued as to whether she was a leader that was made or born. Those that knew her as a child will attest to the latter. Devay attributes a great deal of her ability to lead to the fact that she has been placed in newly created management or HR roles (with no one to follow) in 5 different organizations. This sharpened her skills at creating processes and procedures for others to follow.

When she is not working, you can find Devay volunteering with youth groups and nonprofit organizations conducting career or business workshops. She believes everyone should have the benefit of professional advice or assistance at least once in their life regardless of their financial status.

Devay graduated Magna Cum Laude with Bachelor's in Professional Studies from Kaplan University. Devay was born in Winston-Salem, NC but spent her childhood years In Washington DC and Forestville Maryland. She has one daughter and resides in Pfafftown North Carolina.
